School councils

Audience
All state schools, parents, school councils.

Purpose
This procedure outlines processes for the establishment, operations and dissolution of school councils. Under the Education (General Provisions) Act 2006 (Qld) (the “Act”) (s.79), the chief executive may establish a school council for a state school.

Overview
School councils can be established in all state schools and where established, can enable greater involvement of the school community and other stakeholders, such as industry, in setting the strategic direction for the school.

The Independent Public School (IPS) policy framework provides that schools selected to join the IPS initiative should form a school council within 12 months of becoming an IPS.

The key functions of a school council are to guide the strategic direction of the state school for which it is established and to operate in a way that achieves the best learning outcomes for the school’s students (s.81 of the Act).

Information on the functions and limitations of a school council are referenced in the School council handbook.

Every school council adopts a standard model constitution. The size of the school will determine the number of parent, staff and student members on the school council. However, the school council may not comprise fewer than six or more than fifteen members.

School council elections should be held at the beginning of the year, either in February or March.

Each elected member, or appointed member, of a school council holds office for two years unless the school council decides otherwise as stated in Schedule 2 of the school council’s constitution. However, if newly established, half of the first elected members may hold office for a term of not longer than three years (s.90 of the Act).

Blue card requirements apply to school council members who are not parents, teachers or students under the age of 18 years. A valid blue card must be obtained before commencing duty for the school council which includes attending council meetings (see frequently asked questions).
A member of a school council does not incur civil liability for an act done, or omission made, honestly and without negligence (s.117 of the Act). For council members who are public servants of the State of Queensland, protection from civil liability is afforded under s.26C of the Public Service Act 2008 (Qld).

Responsibilities

Principals
Principals are responsible for facilitating the establishment of a school council, participating on the school council as an official member, and informing the school council of legislation and departmental policies.

School councils
School council members are responsible for establishing strategic direction and priorities of the school and approval of the school’s strategic plan, facilitating and developing relationships between the school, the community and community organisations, and complying with the school council’s code of conduct.

Process

Establishing a school council
1. The principal prepares an initial draft constitution, in consultation with parents, school staff, students and other appropriate entities for the establishment of a school council (s.109 of the Act), see Getting started flowchart.
2. The principal seeks approval of the draft constitution by:
   a. ensuring that, where there is a Parents and Citizens’ Association (P&C) formed for the school, the president of the P&C holds a special meeting; or
   b. holding a meeting of the parents of children attending the school if the school does not have a P&C (see Getting started flowchart); and
   c. ensuring that a school staff meeting is held.
3. The principal establishes the school council by following the Steps to publish a notice in the Queensland Government Gazette.
4. The school council’s official members – the principal and the president of the P&C (if one exists) – organise school council elections by appointing a returning officer (e.g. deputy principal/head of department) to oversee the election process for school council elected members (see Getting started flowchart).
5. School councils may appoint no more than two appointed members (see Getting started flowchart).

Operating a school council
The School council handbook provides a range of processes to be followed in operating a school council, including electing and appointing school council members.

School councils are to ensure that relevant members have a valid blue card before participating in school council activities (see frequently asked questions).
Dissolution of a school council

A school council may be dissolved if:

- the Minister dissolves the school council for non-compliance with a written direction (see Minister’s direction and show cause process). In this case, the Minister must give the council a notice stating that the council is dissolved (s.57 of the Regulation); or
- the school for which the school council is established closes (s.112 of the Act); or
- the Chief Executive dissolves the school council because it is not satisfactorily performing its functions or the school community generally supports the dissolution of the school council. In this case, the Chief Executive (or Chief Executive’s delegate) will publish a notice in the gazette stating that the council is dissolved (s.58 of the Regulation).

The school council is dissolved from the day the notice is published in the gazette; or if a later date for dissolution is stated in the gazettal notice, that date (s. 58(2) of the Regulation).

Further information about the dissolution of a school council, including the dissolution process, can be found in Dissolution of school councils by the Chief Executive and Minister’s direction show cause process.
