

Procedure

Access to records held in schools

Audience

Implementation Date: 27/02/2017
Version: 3.2

Students, parents and carers, schools and educators, other – members of the community, employees

Purpose

Provides a means of access to documents held by schools and guides principals through the process of responding to requests for administrative access to documents held by schools.

If principals determine that it is not appropriate for documents held by schools to be released, they will advise the person making the request that they can lodge a request with the Department of Education and Training for statutory access to the information under the Right to Information Act 2009 \(Qld\) (RTI Act) or the Information Privacy Act 2009 \(Qld\) (IP Act).

Overview

This procedure guides principals through the process of administratively releasing certain types of documents held by schools, when requested.

When a request for a document(s) containing the personal information of the applicant is received, information contained in the document(s) relating to other persons must be removed before the document(s) is given out.

Documents that schools are required under the Education \(General Provisions\) Act 2006 \(Qld\) to give to students and parents/carers – for example, report cards, disciplinary and absence documents – are unaffected by this procedure.

Access is available to existing documents only. School staff are under no obligation to create new documents in response to a request – although they may do so where the principal considers it appropriate in a particular case.

The schedule, Documents held in schools – access and requests, describes the types of documents held by schools and indicates whether access to the documents may be given via administrative access or only under statutory access.

DEPARTMENTAL STAFF ONLY - For information about family law matters affecting state schools, refer to OnePortal.

Also see Special matters – court orders, verification for further information.

Responsibilities

Principals

- The principal is responsible for deciding whether access is granted in each particular case.

Process

Principals

In deciding whether to give a person access to documents or information, the principal must take into account the following:

- A person must make a request for documents in writing to the principal of the relevant school.
- If the person is requesting access to information on behalf of someone else, the person making the request has provided sufficient evidence of their authority to act on behalf of the other person.
- If the request is for access to a document(s) containing personal information of the person making the request, the person has provided sufficient evidence of their identity.
- If the request is for access to a document(s) containing personal information of a child, and the request is made by a person purporting to be a parent, or other person having parental responsibility for the child to whom the information relates, the person making the request has provided sufficient evidence of:
  - their identity; and
  - status as a parent; or
  - status as a person exercising parental responsibility
- If the request is for access to a document(s) containing personal information of an individual(s), and the request is made by a person purporting to be an agent for the individual(s) to whom the information relates, the person making the request has provided sufficient evidence of:
  - their identity; and
  - their authorisation to act on behalf of the individual(s)
- If the request is for access to a document(s) containing personal information of a child, and the request is made by a person purporting to be an agent for a parent of the child to whom the information relates, the person making the request has provided sufficient evidence of:
  - the parent's identity and status as parent; and
  - their identity and authorisation to act on behalf of the parent

- If the requested document(s) contains personal information of any third party (other than routine personal work information of a public servant), access is permitted only to those parts of the document(s) that relate to the person making the request (or on whose behalf the request is made, if applicable). Information relating to any other person must be redacted before the document(s) are given out.
- If access is to be given to a document(s) by inspection in person, the inspection of documents is supervised at all times.
- If charges are payable for the request, the person making the request has been notified of the charges payable and has paid any applicable charges before release or inspection of the document(s).

If principals decide that it is not appropriate to release document(s) administratively (for example, where documents relate to a family law dispute and were not authored by the applicant, or where document(s) relate to an independent student and the student objects, or where the disclosure of the document(s) may not be in the best interests of a child or may pose a risk to someone's health and/or safety), they should:

- notify the applicant of the decision that administrative release of the requested document(s) is not suitable and inform applicant that access may be sought by making an application to the department under the IP Act or RTI Act (whichever is applicable); or
- identify the document(s) that are not suitable for administrative release and give applicant a brief description of the relevant document(s) so that they may be included in an RTI/IP application.

Requests for a document(s) that does not contain personal information of the person making the request

Charges may apply for a request for access to a document(s) that does not contain personal information of the person making the request (or of the person on whose behalf the request has been made).

If access is given to non-personal document(s) by provision of photocopies, a charge of $0.20 for each A4 black and white photocopied page applies.

However there is no charge payable if:

- the total charge would be less than $50; or
- access is given by provision of an electronic copy of the requested documents.

For requests that take five or more hours to process, there is an additional $6.00 charge for every 15 minutes (or part of 15 minutes) in excess of five hours spent processing the request.

Where administrative access is not given under this procedure, access may only be sought by making an application to the department under the IP Act or RTI Act (whichever is applicable).

Under the IP Act, a person (or their duly authorised agent) has a right to apply for access to documents of an agency that contain the individual's personal information. Under the RTI Act, a person has a right to apply for access to documents of an agency (irrespective of whether the documents contain the individual's personal information).
